

Australia and the region: Shared goals, shared futures

A modern Australia, deeply connected to its region

Australia is a dynamic and multicultural nation, home to the world's oldest continuing culture and with people from over 250 ancestries, including more than one million Australians with family ties to Southeast Asia.

When Australians look to the world, we see ourselves reflected in it - and the world can see itself reflected in us.

Looking ahead, together

The Australia Pavilion at World Expo 2025 Osaka is a space to celebrate friendship and future-focused collaboration. It is a place where regional voices are welcomed, shared values are honoured, and a shared future is imagined - together.

Working together to meet global challenges

Australia is committed to facing global challenges alongside our regional partners. World Expo 2025 Osaka provides a global platform to advance this work, just like an international summit, but with the spirit of creativity and optimism that only a World Expo can offer.

A community of distinct nations with shared purpose

At World Expo 2025 Osaka, the Australia Pavilion celebrates our place in the Indo-Pacific, as part of a vibrant community of nations. While each country holds its own identity, we are united by a common vision - for a peaceful, stable and prosperous region where sovereignty is respected, and cooperation thrives.

Australia's relationships in the region are built on trust, mutual understanding, and people-to-people connections that go beyond diplomacy.

A region of shared history and future

Australia's prosperity, security and identity are firmly linked to the Asia-Pacific through deep, longstanding relationships across business, education, tourism, culture and family. We work together in the region, not only because of geography, but because of shared values such as respect, reciprocity, family and collective strength.

Australia's stories, ancient and modern, are interwoven with the region's, and our future is shared. More than just neighbours, we are partners.
